

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

HICKMAN, KY.,

FRIDAY, JUN 1, 1861. JAN. 29, 1862.

POOR SOUTHERNERS.

We are authorized to announce, M. D. JOHNSON is a candidate for Sheriff of Fulton county, at the ensuing election. We are satisfied, in evidence, W. C. HICKMAN, a candidate for Sheriff of Fulton county at the ensuing election, subject to the action of the Democrats.

1862.

THE PRESIDENCY.

Who will be the Democratic Nominee?

If the Democratic voters, in all the States of the Union, would make their names for President by popular vote, without intermission of delegates or caucuses, Grover Cleveland would be the nominee by a large majority.

But it is true that large elements of the party are opposed to him, the free silver element, the Hill-burton element, the Yancey element who want the nominees to him from the Western States and to split New York and the East.

For these reasons, and for the further fact that Mr. Cleveland has once had the great honor of being President of the United States, it is my opinion that, at present, he is the most popular, though, possibly and anomalously, to refuse to permit his name to go before the Convention. This may or may not be true.

Senator Hill, of New York, with Cleveland out of the way, will probably be the strongest candidate before the National Convention, and, if he is chosen, New York will most certain. He is the wisest and finest political manager in the Democratic party, and perhaps the only man in our party able to cope with Mr. Blaine in this line. But the country has learned, right or wrong, to look upon Hill as a politician and upon Cleveland as a statesman, and, accordingly, the same arguments that are advanced to defeat Cleveland are against Hill's nomination. But he would carry the Southern States, New York, and some of the Eastern States, and that would elect.

The strong feeling for a Western man, and for a man more in keeping with the spirit of the affair given by the American people, points to their support by the Hill element.

But grand that all the American witnesses say is true, and that all the Chilians say is false, still there is a sufficient cause for having such unanimity of feelings as regards the Chilian cause, as soon as the Chilian cause itself is individualized. The American officers deny this, say the American sailors were sober, and were attacked for no other cause than that they were American sailors.

Naturally enough, President Lincoln sides with the German of the affair given by the American people, and comes to their support by the Hill war message.

But grand that all the American witnesses say is true, and that all the Chilians say is false, still there is a sufficient cause for having such unanimity of feelings as regards the Chilian cause, as soon as the Chilian cause itself is individualized. The American officers deny this, say the American sailors were sober, and were attacked for no other cause than that they were American sailors.

In this Christian Government, blessed with so many Christian people, and so many peace-loving people who are not Christians, little credit is given to the idea of little God-given spiritual opportunity for peace!

The American, the Christian, and Congressmen, irrespective of party, published in the paper talk like war, and that the President will be sustained to the last, and to the last man want, etc.

This old enough to know, any short war, we will know who talk so fondly about saving the last dollar and the last man; suppose other men to do the fighting other than themselves.

Of course the officers of the army and navy may want war, because there is the promise of profit, and the pay is good, and the vast arm of contractors always day, because there are millions of dollars to them, and to speculators, but the great body of the people want peace.

The same day the President published his speech, the War Department, with a few words from Hill, submitted the trouble to any neutral power, or to the Supreme Court of the United States, for arbitration. This, if true, certainly is sufficient.

The Globe-Democrat, the great organ of the West, says that the Republicans can succeed on the Chilian matter, and that the next Democratic Congressional Convention of the Ninth District adjourns.

The difference between the Democratic party and the Republican party is well illustrated in New York. The Republicans stand about a dozen seats in the last Congress; they have, acting as the leaders of the Farmers' Alliance, and most Republican paper, so far as we know, hold every hold of every particle of rascality of which they have been guilty. But in New York, the course of the Democrats is well known, and they strongly disapproved by fully a dozen of the leading Democratic papers of the State, including the World, the Sun, and the Buffalo Courier.

OUR VOICE IS FOR PEACE.

Surely War Can Be Averted.

Chili's Fair Proposal.

The message of President Lincoln to Congress in regard to the peaceable, and in particular, the friendly, war, is well known. That the President is decidedly of the opinion that Chili apologizes and makes reparation forthwith, and the United States ought to compel compliance at the cannon's mouth, no matter how many lives are lost or how many millions of dollars are spent.

The popular mind is undoubtedly inclined to what we call "combines," "corporations," and the advantages resulting to aggregated wealth.

The great bulk of our people have been going on in their respective calling, each good will to all and malice to none—and even little Chili and few ever have thought seriously of how near our happy country is on the very brink of a bloody war. And, what is the cause of this? All the United States permit some of their sailors to go where they please, and while a shore a fight, a mule, a mob, and all sorts of things are burnt, wounded, and one killed.

The correspondence submitted by President Harrison in our news shows that these sailors were not wanted and one killed because they were the United States and form because they belonged to the United States; but the left wing of the Chilians say that the United government dislikes any such cause; that they at least pretend to be anxious for friendly relations, and express great regret over the trouble with the sailors. They say that it was a drunken row, the American sailors being drunk and some Chilian sailors being drunk, and that the sailors of both nations engaged in a row, and that the Chilians are engaged as soon as the Chilian cause itself is individualized. The American officers deny this, say the American sailors were sober, and were attacked for no other cause than that they were American sailors.

Naturally enough, President Lincoln sides with the German of the affair given by the American people, and comes to their support by the Hill war message.

But grand that all the American witnesses say is true, and that all the Chilians say is false, still there is a sufficient cause for having such unanimity of feelings as regards the Chilian cause, as soon as the Chilian cause itself is individualized. The American officers deny this, say the American sailors were sober, and were attacked for no other cause than that they were American sailors.

In this Christian Government, blessed with so many Christian people, and so many peace-loving people who are not Christians, little credit is given to the idea of little God-given spiritual opportunity for peace!

GRITTY GREETINGS.

I am La Trigle!

Drip for short,

Do you get just the same?

Or the same?

I get there.

Knocks the stalling!

On the other side pathology!

I am not a spectator of persons!

And sit, or sit, or sit,

Or sit, or sit, or sit,
